Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 8,10-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

3. At Claim 8, line 6 recites the limitation "the representation of the probe".

There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

At Claim 8, line 4-5 recite limitation "two other images", "other points"

It is unclear what applicant meant by these limitations.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 8,10,11,13-16 and 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Darrow et al (US Patent 5,577,502) in view of Epstein (US Patent 5,997,883).

6. Darrow et al teach a Medical procedures method wherein simultaneously displaying the image and a representation of a probe, the image and the representation of the probe corresponding to substantially the same point (corresponding to the point of the displayed with the periodic motion) in a bodily cycle (See Col. 2, lines 25-28, Col. 5, lines 1-9, Col. 6, lines 20-67) , however Darrow et al does not teach that the MR imaging image (See Col. 3, lines 28-39) is generated by interpolating between and/or extrapolating from at least two other images of the organ or structure taken at other points of the bodily cycle.

7. Epstein teach a medical images acquisition method comprising an image being generated by interpolating between images of the organ or structure taken at other points of the bodily cycle (See Col.8, lines 34-42, Col.2, lines 27-47, Col.3, lines 49-67, Col.4, lines 1-67; Col.5, lines 1-12) in order to account for variations leading to better resolution image during cardiac procedures since images acquired at cardiac procedures often exhibit blurring or ghosting artifacts. (See Col. 1, lines 59-67 and (Col. 2, lines 27-39)

8. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to modify of medical procedures method of Darrow et al wherein an image being generated by interpolating between images of the organ or structure taken at other points of the bodily cycle (See Col.8, lines 34-42, Col.2, lines 27-47, Col.3, lines 49-67, Col.4, lines 1-67; Col.5, lines 1-12) in order to account for variations leading to better resolution image during cardiac procedures since images acquired at cardiac procedures often exhibit blurring or ghosting artifacts. (See Col. 1, lines 59-67 and (Col. 2, lines 27-39) as taught by Darrow et al.

9. Claims 12 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Darrow et al in view of Epstein and further view of Packer et al (US Patent 6,556,695) .
10. Darrow et al and Packer et teach the claimed invention see rejection supra, however Darrow et al and Packer et do teach the including displaying a map electrical properties of the heart.
11. Packer et al (US Patent 6,556,695) teach a medical procedures method including displaying a map of electrical properties of the heart is overlaid on anatomical image in order to guide physician during medical imaging and ablating in real-time (See Col.12, lines 51; Col.13, lines 1-29, Col.7, lines 24-34).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to modify of medical procedures method of Darrow et al and Packer et including displaying a map of electrical properties of the heart is overlaid on anatomical image and the probe in order to guide physician during medical imaging and ablating in real-time (See Col.1, lines1-14) as taught by Packer et al .

Response to Arguments

12. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 8,10-19 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

13. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Webler (US Pub. 2007/0055142), Hunter (US Pub. 2004/0097806), Osadchy (US Patent 6,368,285), Olstad (US Patent 6,447,450) teaches claimed invention.
